MANY FUGITIVES.

They Are Flocking to Burghas From Macedonia and Adrianople.

BRING DIRE NEWS WITH THEM

Much of the Country Now in the Hands of the Turks and There Is a Reign of Terror.

MACEDONIAN WOMEN TAKE A HAND

BURGHAS, Eastern Roumelia, September 23.—Fugitives from the disturbed districts of Macedonia and Adrianople are flocking here for protection and safety. There are now fully 8,000 fugitives in the neighborhood and more are coming in daily.

Two thousand fugitives are now resting in the village of Urum Yenikoi, in Eastern Roumelia, and 2,000 others are in the Roumelian village of Tekenje. A large number are also in other villages in that district. Four thousand women and children are reported to be starving in the woods along the border. Assistance from Burghas and other places is entirely insufficient to keep them alive.

They report an awful state of affairs in the districts which they left. The territory between Adrianople and the coast, they say, has undergone a total change. This is the district where the insurgent call to arms recently resulted in the male inhabitants volunteering en masse. Lately, however, heavy Turkish drafts have arrived, and the district is in a reign of terror. The men have gone to the hills, while the women have been left in a starving condition in the villages or in the woods surrounding their homes.

The Turks have obtained possession of nearly every point. They are moving detachments of from 1,500 to 2,000 artillery and cavalry from the south to the north, from there to the frontier and then eastward, in an endeavor to enclose the insurgents and cut off their retreat.

The women in the districts surrounding the villages of Gramitokoff, Burgari and Konaki, driven to desperation by the state of affairs, took the offensive themselves and by skillful maneuvering succeeded in driving their cattle and sheep and in carrying all of their portable articles into Bulgarian territory, where they are, for the time at least, safe from molestation. Before leaving their homes they destroyed all the grain.

London, September 23.—The Balkan situation today presents a somewhat puzzling aspect. Turkey is showing signs of yielding to the Bulgarian demands and it is evident from the daily meeting of the council of ministers at Vildiz, that some sort of negotiations are in progress with the object of averting war.

According to a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Constantinople these councils concern two possibilities—either to make an arrangement satisfactory to the Macedonians or obtain from the great powers promise of neutrality if it is found impossible to avoid a war.

CITIZENS ATTENTION!

Do you want the Glass Works? If you have the welfare of your town at heart and are interested in its prosperity to the extent of encouraging the rebuilding of this important industry you are requested to meet with other business men and citizens in the office of Col. Wilbur F. Reeder this afternoon at 3 o'clock when the matter of re-building the Glass Works will be definitely settled one way or the other.

If you are interested in this matter as a business proposition, do not fail to be present. It is well worth your consideration and must be decided at once.

By Order of Committee.

The Juniors Celebrate.

The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the organization in this state of the Junior Order of the United American Mechanics was held in Philadelphia this week. A great parade was given on Broad street in which 10,000 persons participated. Among the guests was Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, United States Army, retired.

STREET FAIR AND SOCIAL.

Our Methodist Brethren Have Great Doings Friday Night—A Novel Entertainment.

If you desired to be transported back to the days of the 4th of July Carnival all you had to do was to walk down Howard street Friday evening where the Methodists were having their street fair and sociable. There were great doings there. The "barker" was out in all his glory and with the varied attractions and the large crowds in attendance the scene was quite animated and brilliant.

The entertainment was new and novel and reflected great credit on those in charge. The first thing that attracted your attention was the big tent which contained the "Dime Museum". The price of admission was ten cents and you could not fail to enter after listening to "the barker" James Parsons who in pursuasive language told you of the wonderful attractions within. Miss Lulu Meek had charge of the museum and she is to be congratulated on her success in getting up this amusing feature.

It was worth more than the price of admission just to see that staid elder of the church, Henry Musser in the role of a bearded lady. Then there was Herbert Bartley as the "living skeleton"; Miss May Hall as the "glass eater;" Frank Smith as the wild man of Borneo; Miss Pearl Knisely as a dwarf; Miss Lizzie Yohey as an Egyptian Mummy; James O. Brewer as an Indian; Miss Carrie Robb as Hiawatha; John Wood as Sandow; Margaret Brachbill as the tight rope walker; Frank Steele as the $10,000 beauty; Myrtle Barnhart as the Albino Girl and last Luther Crissman as the midget. The attractions were all good and elicted much innocent fun and amusement.

Then there was the bean sale under the charge of Miss Grace Blackford's Sunday school class and a Candy stand where all kinds of sweets could be purchased, and a grab bag where you could get everything from a collar button to a lamp.

Later in the evening there was a social and entertainment in the lecture room to which an admission of ten cents was charged. This part of the entertainment was in charge of Miss Bessie Meek who in fact had general supervision of the whole entertainment with the able assistance of Miss Lulu Meek, Miss Elizabeth Faxon, Miss Grace Blackford, Miss Ida Green, Phil Weaver, James Parsons and the balance of the performers.

Ice cream, cake and coffee were served. The ice cream came from William Doll's bakery and was simply delicious. Then there was an entertaining program rendered with music by an excellent orchestra. It opened with a laughable pantomine entitled "Mary Jane", in which Ward Fleming, Phil Weaver and James Parsons took part followed by "The Human Flag" an exercise in which sixty-nine little girls participated. A vocal solo by Miss Margaret Garman and a recitation by Hazel Cook were next on the program.

Miss Helen Schaeffer sang a solo entitled "The Violets." She has a beautiful voice and was highly complimented for her singing.

Mary Hicklen recited "On the Other Train", Frank Curtin rendered a vocal solo and Ione Donachy a recitation.

An amusing dialogue "The Last Day of School" was quite funny. The characters were taken by Hazel Cook, Alice Lowry, Mary Hicklen and Berenice Faxon.

Grace Steele recited "Dat Yaller Coon" and the program closed with a pretty tableau.

The electrical work was all done by Phil Weaver and James Parsons.

The receipts were about $82.30 and they go to purchase music for the Sunday school.

Lutheran Preponderance.

By the use of tracts well distributed Lutherans are trying to make the people of America realize that while they are numerically weaker here than are some other religious bodies, they are relatively stronger than most others in Europe. They declare that statistics for use in the United States ought to give church memberships for the world, when they would make a better relative showing.

Professor Lenker, of Nebraska, lays claim to a Lutheran membership for the whole world of 70,000,000, as against 21,000,000 Episcopalians, 17,000,000 Methodists, 11,000,000. Baptists and 9,000,000 Presbyterians. He shows also the relatively greater growth of Teutonic nations of Europe, as compared with Latin ones.

BILLS AMOUNTING TO $3524.87 PAID

The boro council met Monday evening at 7:30 in the council chamber at the Public Building. President Cunningham occupied the chair with the following members present: Reynolds, Mallory, Fenlon, Wise, Kirk, Derstine.

The minutes of the previous meetings were read by the clerk of council, Mr. W. T. Kelly and there being no corrections they stood approved.

Mr. A. Lukenbach on behalf of the Reformed church asked council to grant water to operate motor for the new pipe organ which they are installing. He also asked permission to dig up street to lay pipe for this purpose. The request was granted.

Burgess W. Harrison Walker ask on behalf of the W. C. T. U. that council exonerate them from one-half of the street, borough and interest tax on Petrikin Hall. He also turned in $63.75 collected by him from fines, licenses etc.

The report of Borough Treasurer Geo. R. Meek showed a balance due him of $851.59

The request of Mr. Walker in behalf of the Petrikin Hall was referred to Finance committee to investigate and report at next meeting. Council seemed in favor of granting request if they had legal right to do so.

Dr. Kirk was granted permission to dig a cesspool under the sidewalk on his recently purchased property on East High street.

Chairman Fenlon asked council to appoint some one else to collect the water tax instead of Water Superintendent Rine, as the latter has not the time to do it.

Col. Reynolds moved seconded by Mr. Derstine that the Water committee be instructed to have some one collect the water taxes due. Motion carried.

The Water duplicate for 1903 was discussed at length and Water Committee was instructed to report on amount of money needed to run Water Works for the year, so that tax rate could be fixed.

The following bills were approved and ordered paid:

A Fire Bricks works for Bellefonte.

There are bright prospects for the locating of a fire brick plant at this place in the near future. We mention this with a slight hesitancy as Bellefonte seems to receive all such reports with incredulity and is not tearing its shirt to secure new industries. It will not be necessary to clap your hands on your pocket books either as you will not be asked to contribute.

The parties back of this proposed enterprise are Greensburg people with one or two local capitalists. They are negotiating for the old Nail Works site to locate their plant on and will employ twenty-five or thirty men.

TRIED TO BREAK JAIL.

Centre County Post Office Robbers Foiled in Attempt to Escape.

The Williamsport Sun says:

On the confession of Tom Gallagher that he had furnished the four United States prisoners in the jail with a saw with which to saw their way out of their cells, Sheriff Milnor Tuesday afternoon searched the cells of the four men who were brought here from Bellefonte to await trial by the United States court—Lewis, Sherman, Parker and Ryan. When he reached the third cell, occupied by Ryan, the occupant handed the saw to the sheriff, with the remark that he knew that he would find it any way. As far as could be told, the men had not used the saw, which, fortunately for all concerned, was not tempered to the right degree of hardness to cut the iron bars readily.

The startling announcement came to the sheriff Tuesday from Gallagher himself. Tom was for some time a prisoner in the jail, and during a part of that time was the inside hall "runner." Tuesday he visited the jail, and while talking to the sheriff said that the prisoners who occupy the iron cage were in possession of a saw—one of those intended for sawing iron. The sheriff was not at first inclined to believe the statement. But Gallagher insisted, and a search was at once begun. The men were asked concerning the matter, and denied having anything of that nature. Two cells of the four in the iron cage, which is occupied exclusively by the four United States prisoners, had been carefully searched without finding anything, when Ryan, the occupant of the third cell, took the saw from under his pillow, and handed it to the sheriff, at the same time making the remark: "You would find it anyway."

The men had been in possession of the saw for nine days, according to the estimate of the sheriff. Gallagher's story was to the effect that while he was the hall runner the men had given him the money with which to purchase the saw, and that he had gotten it for them at the hardware store of A. B. Neyhart, opposite the jail. The men had been unable to use the saw because it was tempered too soft to cut the iron bars effectively. Had it done so, the probability is that all four men would have escaped. At about the time the saw is believed to have been given to the prisoners Gallagher was removed from the position of hall runner, and was succeeded by Harry Martin, of Jersey Shore.

The story told by Gallagher is not entirely believed by the sheriff, Gallagher was miffed when he was removed from the position of hall runner, and one theory, which the sheriff is inclined to believe, is that Gallagher got the saw—a soft one purposely—to throw discredit on the new hall runner. As the hall runner is the only one of the prisoners who has access to the steel cage, the responsibility for the possession of the saw by the men would fall largely on him. The sheriff recites as an evidence of this that when he inquired at the Neyhart store concerning the matter, he was told by the clerk who made the sale that a young woman had purchased the saw, saying that she wanted it for young Martin, of Jersey Shore.

As far as could be ascertained by a thorough examination, the prisoners had made no effort to use the saw at any part of the cage. They evidently came to the conclusion at once that the saw was not of the necessary quality to be of service to them. It is very fortunate that this is the case, for had they been able to use it, the prisoners would undoubtedly have escaped. These men are the ones with whom a Centre county posse had a pitched battle at Seven Mountains, one of them being severely wounded during the affair. Inasmuch as the offense is against United States prisoners, it is understood that the government authorities will take up the matter, and prosecute Gallagher. The offense is a very serious one.

Kling—McCaulley.

Mr. Foster E. Kling, formerly of Howard, Centre county, but later of Altoona, and Miss Grace I. McCaulley, of Lloydsville, were quietly married at 8.15 o'clock Tuesday evening at the parsonage of the Third Presbyterian church at Altoona by the Rev. J. E. Irvine. The bride and groom intend to make Altoona their future home, Mr. Kling being a railroad man.

—We would call the attention of the borough council to the fact, that the electric street light corner of Penn and Burrow street has not been burning for several weeks.

RECORD OF RECENT DEATHS.

Dark Angel Enters Many Homes in Nearby Towns

AND LEAVES SOME VACANT CHAIRS

Mrs. Eliza Ann Bailey Dies at the Advanced Age of 84—Miles Lewis, Wm. Toner, Dorsey Jones and An Infant Child Called Home.

THE OLD AND YOUNG CALLED

ELIZA ANN BAILEY.

At 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning the angel of death entered the Bailey home on East Lamb street and took hence from its earthly tenement the spirit of a kind and loving mother, Mrs. Eliza Ann Bailey. She had been in failing health for several years past and had been bedfast since last March. Her death was due to general debility brought on by her advanced age.

Deceased was born in Elkton, Cecil county, Maryland; and was 84 years old on the 1st of September. She was the daughter of John Smith long since deceased. On July 6, 1843 she was married to William Devoe Bailey at Columbus, Ohio. Her husband followed the printing trade for over fifty years and died at this place August 3, 1882.

Surviving this union are four children, namely, William F., of Galva, Ill.; Mrs. Mary Elmore, Mrs. William S. Rankin and Newton S. Bailey, of Bellefonte. Two children are dead Francis E., and Alice.

Mrs. Bailey had been a resident of Bellefonte for over thirty years and was universally respected for her high christian character and many excellent qualities. She was a member of the Baptist church but as there was no church of that denomination here she generally attended the Episcopalian. She was devoted to her family and they entertained the same feeling for her. We know of no higher example of devotion than that shown by her son, Newton S. Bailey, whose tender ministrations have served to lighten and make happy her declining years.

The funeral services were held at the house on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock conducted by Rev. George Israel Brown of the Episcopal church. The remains were taken to Williamsport Monday morning where they were interred beside those of her husband in Wildwood cemetery. The casket bearers were Messrs. C. C. Shuey, Claude Cook, F. C. Montgomery and Hamilton Otto.

MILES LEWIS.

At his home in Bald Eagle valley at 5 o'clock Saturday evening, while sitting on the porch talking to some of the members of his family Miles Lewis suffered an attack of neuralgia of the heart and expired almost instantly. He had not been well during the past year. He was aged 59 years, 11 months and 15 days.

Miles Lewis was born in the Bald Eagle valley on October 4, 1843, and had spent all his life in that valley, where he followed the occupation of a farmer. His wife, Mrs. Eliza Lewis, died on the 5th of April, of last year. He is survived by five children as follows: George W. Lewis and Mrs. J. C. Hamer, who reside at Cold Spring Forge; Elmer, Blair and Sallie Lewis, all at the family home. A son, H. C. Lewis, died in 1891, at the age of nearly 20 years. These brothers and sisters survive; Harriet E., James, David and Annie Lewis all residing in Bald Eagle valley, and Joshua Lewis, of Tyrone.

The deceased was an industrious and thrifty man, and was one of the Bald Eagle valley's substantial citizens. His sudden death was not only a great shock to his family and friends, but will be regretted throughout the community where he spent all his life. The funeral was held at 9 o'clock Monday morning, services being conducted by the Rev. Mr. Dillon, of Port Matilda. Interment at Bald Eagle cemetery.

DORSEY ORVIS JONES.

Dorsey Orvis Jones died at his home in Bald Eagle Saturday, Sept. 19, at 3.20 p. m. from cancer of the bowels, from which he had been a sufferer since last April. The deceased was a son of Edward and Tabitha Jones, was born at Port Matilda December 27, 1867, and at death was 35 years, 8 months and 22 days of age. He was a clever, generous, kind citizen and had many friends in the community in which he lived and wherever he was known. He was a kind, loving father, an affectionate husband, and a devoted Christian.

He was at the time of death one of Snyder township's school directors and worked with interest for the benefit of the school. He is survived by his father, Edward Jones, and step-mother, of Port Matilda; two brothers, Cook Jones, of Philipsburg and Harry Jones; two sisters Mrs. Ella Randell, of Ohio, and Mrs. Maggie Whitmer of Pennsylvania Furnace; and the following half brothers and sisters: Etta, of Philipsburg, Mrs. Maude Scott, of Mt. Union, and Budd, of Port Matilda. He also leaves his wife, Mrs. Susan Jones, and children, Philip aged 10 years, Lillie aged 8 years, Tabitha aged 2½, and Mary aged one year. The remains were taken to Port Matilda Monday where services were conducted in the Baptist church by Rev. Mr. Lathrop, of Milesburg. Interment was made in the Presbyterian cemetery.

WILLIAM TONER.

Perhaps one of the saddest events that has occurred in the vicinity of the little village of Axe Mann, in a long time was the sudden death of William Toner.

He was a young man of good standing in the community and was one who was well thought of by every one who knew him. A young man who loved his home and parents, and his fellow men.

About two weeks ago he became very ill, and although everything possible was done to prolong his life, he passed peacefully away Sunday evening at 5:30. The cause of his death heart failure.

William Toner was a son of John and Mary Toner and was born at Axe Mann about 36 years ago. He leaves to mourn his death his father and mother and following brothers and sisters, Mrs. Mary Curry, of Waddle; Mrs. Robert Morrison, Lizzie of Elizabeth Pa., Thomas, of Axe Mann; James of Bellefonte; and Andrew of Clearfield.

The funeral occurred on Tuesday morning at ten o'clock from St. John's Catholic Church on East Bishop street. The services were conducted by Rev. Father Patrick McArdle.

The casket bearers were Edward Cain, George Hughes, Frank Gross, Edward Beck, William Hoover and Boyd Hunter.

Interment in the Catholic cemetery.

W. P. ROTHROCK.

Dr. W. P. Rothrock, of Floral, Kansas, died at his home last Sunday morning at 2 o'clock, aged 83 years. Dr. Rothrock for many years was a resident and practitioner of Beech Creek, but 25 or 30 years ago he moved to Buffalo Run, Centre county, where he resided one year, moving from there to Kansas where he lived until his death. He is survived by his wife and the following children: Mrs. William P. Mitchell, of Lock Haven, who was with him at the time of his death. James, of Wier City, Kansas; William, of Portland, Oregon; Mrs. Martha Clark, of near Floral, Kansas, and Miss Elizabeth at home. Dr. Rothrock was a strong man physically and mentally and retained his physical vigor and all his mental acuities to within a few weeks of his death. His death was due to a general breaking down of his system.

CHARLES BLOOM.

A Telegraphic Dispatch received here Sunday, contained the sad news of the sudden death, at his home in Portland, Mo., of Charles Bloom a former resident of Ferguson Twp. Mr. Bloom was aged about 46 years and left Centre county when quite a young man to seek his fortune in the west. He is survived by a wife and two sons; his mother Mrs. D. S. Erb, of State College; one brother John of Col., and two sisters, Mrs. J. B. Heberling of Pine Grove Mills and Mrs. G. W. Campbell of Kansas. Edward S. Erb of Bellefonte is a half-brother. The funeral took place Tuesday. Interment in Mo.

Bought the Stover Property.

Brother Charles R. Kurtz, of the Centre Democrat is showing signs of prosperity. His business has outgrown the present location in Garman block and so last week he purchased the Frank B. Stover property on High street which he will occupy about April 1, 1904. The meat market will be turned into a printing office and residence occupied by Mr. Kurtz.

The property secured was owned by Col. J. G. Kurtz, in 1860. The present building was erected by him at that time for his residence and for the office of the "Central Press" which he edited and published for a number of years. Mr. Kurtz sold the property to Mr. Tyson and in 1881 it was purchased by Frank B. Stover, who resided there and also conducted a meat market in it since.

Mr. Stover will continue his meat market as heretofore until about March 1st, when he contemplates having sale of shop furnishings and personal property. He has no definite arrangements for the future.

—A new concrete pavement is being laid in front of the residence of Col. J. L. Spangler on North Allegheny street.

AKKAYAK'S BACKSLIDING

By ROSE HUGHES LEECH

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

Akkayak pushed his kyak out into the blue waters of Grantly harbor and, following the golden track of sunlight on its breast, headed for the Nook, the tiny Eskimo village across the bay. A wild duck rose from the water and circled daringly above his head with a defiant scream, noting no move of the Eskimo toward the gun at his side.

For Akkayak's thoughts were not with the joys of the hunt as he swept his kyak with even strokes toward the north, but only of Iwonna, the daughter of Stony Tom, the prettiest Eskimo maiden at the Nook and the torment of Akkayak's life. For Akkayak was a serious minded and industrious individual and had, moreover, deep religious convictions implanted in his breast by long training at the missionary's school. He went about the wooing of Iwonna in the same sad and fervent way that he said his prayers, with the result that the maiden scorned him openly, much to the edification of Spoon, who had of late chosen to pass his idle moments—and most of Spoon's moments were idle—around the eglow of Stony Tom.

If only he—Akkayak—had not been a Christian! Matters could have been easily adjusted then and Spoon wiped from the face of the earth. But of course this could not be. Akkayak liked heat as well as any other Eskimo, but he did not want it served on a fork in allopathic doses, and the missionary had assured him that murderers had to take it that way after they crossed the great divide.

But have Iwonna he would despite all the Spoons in Alaska! His boat grated on the beach, and with this thought uppermost in his mind he turned toward her home and was somewhat taken back to find his hated rival seated close, very close, to her on an overturned butter case. They were eating oranges! Shades of extravagance, oranges! Where had Spoon procured them? Akkayak had his dark suspicions, but he bid them manfully and greeted the girl and her companion with a polite "Tigidliokotin." Iwonna had on a new red calico parka and was prettier and more insolent than usual. Akkayak turned with dignity and strode to where Stony Tom sat on a pile of skins outside the eglow door.

After a guttural greeting, listlessly returned by Stony Tom, he spoke as follows:

"I come to ask you to give me Iwonna for my squaw. Good eglow have I and plenty good furs and much wood for the winter's coming. Plenty of dried tomcod also have I, and no man's dogs are better than mine. And I myself am a Christian man and good and drink no white man's whisky. In my eglow Iwonna can live all the same as white woman and Iwonna's father shine as the sun."

Stony Tom shifted his tobacco to the other side of his capacious mouth and replied briefly:

"Me like you. You got plenty kowkow (food), plenty good eglow. Iwonna him like Spoon. Me speak Iwonna like you. Iwonna go quick to Spoon. Me wait. You wait. By and by plenty good time."

And with such advice Akkayak was fain to be content. He had no other rival. True, Okbauk, from Cape Prince of Wales, came occasionally to see Stony Tom, but he never looked at Iwonna.

And thus moons waxed and waned, and the great white silence fell, so that the suitors of Iwonna went by sled to the Nook. And the old Eskimo women put their heads together and said it was a shame the way the girl acted. What did the men see in the creature anyway? Great, staring eyes and mouth that giggled continually! Secretly they all hoped the girl's choice would fall on Spoon, leaving Akkayak for one of their daughters, for Akkayak was a "catch." The old men said the fact that Stony Tom favored the suit of Akkayak made it quite certain that she would not choose him, and they banked largely upon Spoon.

But Iwonna kept her own counsel and accepted all tributes of oranges and loaf sugar with a placid smile. She was careful, however, to decline all gifts of wearing apparel proffered by either suitor, for with the acceptance of such garment she would have pledged herself to take the giver "for better or for worse."

Then there came a time when Akkayak, on his way to Gold Run creek with his dog team, met Spoon on the trail coming to town. Spoon said a few forcible things and Akkayak forgot his religious training. Over and over they tumbled, and the dogs sat down in delighted contentment to watch the fray.

Finally a strong right arm blew of Akkayak sent Spoon headlong into a snowdrift, and it was some time before he staggered to his feet and glared balefully out of his uninjured eye at his hated foe.

"Ugh!" panted Akkayak. "You no go to Iwonna's eglow any more."

Spoon fairly danced with rage as he gasped: "Iwonna like me. She no like you. She say you all the same as white man!"

This was a blow, indeed, but Akkayak knew that veracity was not Spoon's strong point. Still, it did sound like Iwonna's way of talking. After some further altercation they agreed to set out forthwith for the Nook and tell the fickle maiden that she must choose one or the other. True, they did not look as presentable as they could have wished for such an errand, but the thing must be settled. Spoon had one eye closed and his garments much bespattered with gore. Akkayak's upper lip was twice its natural size, and his parka, torn midway off his back, dangled forlornly about his heels. He looked anything but the decent Christian Eskimo of other, calmer, days. No word was spoken until they were almost at the Nook, when an unwonted stir about the village caused each to pause and give an astonished "Ugh!"

All the Eskimos in the little settlement seemed to be out and about the eglow of Stony Tom. Was Stony Tom dead? Akkayak thought it possible, for the old man had been complaining of late. Ah, well, all old people must die some time, and squaws who were orphans were really more desirable.

Enlightenment was not long in coming. Out from his eglow stepped Stony Tom, and behind him came Okbauk holding Iwonna by the hand. The girl was dressed in a new and much embroidered fine fur parka and looked very meek. Beside the door stood Okbauk's new sled with ivory runners and six good Malamoot dogs hitched thereto with fancy harness and jingling bells. Okbauk tenderly placed Stony Tom and Iwonna on the sled, wrapped them carefully in furs and, taking his place on the trail ahead of his team, started off toward the north and the home he had prepared for his squaw.

Spoon looked at Akkayak and Akkayak looked at Spoon. For the second time that day Akkayak threw religion to the winds and emphatically swore. Then they turned with one accord and started for Teller in a silence that could be felt.

After a time Spoon said gently, "Getting plenty cold weather."

"Yes," responded Akkayak; "plenty cold."

An Educator's Exploring Trip.

President Harper of the University of Chicago has succeeded in securing from the sultan the right to explore the ruins of ancient Babylon. The university has now obtained permission to excavate in Tel Ibrahim. Application was made to the sultan for permission to explore the ruins of Babylon and its neighborhood in 1900, and after long delays it was granted. But further delays occurred, and the irade was not issued. Then it was discovered that the Germans had received permission to explore the same territory. It is believed that the ruins of the temple in which Nebuchadnezzar offered sacrifices in 580 B. C. and also an extensive library of clay tablets will be uncovered.

Swiss Guard For Servian King.

King Peter of Servia does not feel that he is in security at the konak (royal palace) and intends to establish a Swiss guard on the model of that existing in France at the time of the French revolution, says the Vienna correspondent of the New York World. This project is criticised by the inhabitants of Belgrade, but as a measure of precaution it appears to be justified. Unflattering rumors circulate on the conduct of the army. The officers of the school of war have had some secret meetings lately, and General Lazarevitch, the most popular chief of the army, is said to be on the eve of making a pronunciamento.

Brave Alfonso.

King Alfonso had a little adventure, rather unusual with sovereigns, the other day. His majesty was walking in the Prado when a bullock broke from a herd that was being driven and, tearing away at full gallop, showed every disposition to use its horns among the pedestrians and equipages. There was a regular stampede, but the king showed his spirit and, drawing a revolver, brought the beast down with two or three swiftly delivered shots.

Spain's Naval Plans.

The war ships and torpedo boats planned by the Spanish government would cost $60,000,000. Before beginning on them the wharfs and arsenals of Cadiz, Ferrol and Cartagena, all of which are in a deplorable condition, are to be repaired.

TERRIBLE, IF TRUE!

Foreign Offices at Sofia Hear of Burning of a Town of 10,000 Inhabitants.

PEOPLE WERE MASSACRED

The Repor Comes From Sources Which Have Heretofore Always Been Considered Trustworthy.

BULGARIA MOBILIZING ITS ARMY

Sofia, Bulgaria, September 18.—The foreign offices here has received reliable information that the Turks have destroyed the town of Kastoria, thirty miles south of Monastir, and have massacred the population.

The report of the massacre comes from sources admitting of little doubt, though the details are lacking. It was received with the greatest concern by the officials here. The population of Kastoria numbers about 10,000 persons and the massacre of such a number in one place, if the report be true, exceeds anything which has yet occurred in Macedonia. At the present critical moment, when excitement is intense the effect of the report of such a stupendous slaughter may be most serious.

The press is assuming a bellicose tone the Duevnik complains that the government's partial mobilization of three divisions is utterly inadequate and urges the immediate mobilization of the whole Bulgarian army, pointing out that the experience of other nations, France the United States and Austria, has proved that it is always better to display strength when dealing with Turkey.

The paper advises the government to act now "at a favorable moment, when the people of Europe are evidencing encouragement of Bulgaria."

The government, while steadily proceeding with the partial mobilization plans, is endeavoring to avoid unnecessarily exciting the people, and consequently, has resolved not to mobilize any part of the Sofia garrison.

The war offices has recalled the Bulgarian officers who were studying in the military schools of Russia, France, Austria and Italy.

BERLIN, September 18.—The military occupation of Macedonia by Russia and Austria is thought here to be the only expedient sufficient to prevent war between Turkey and Bulgaria. The suggestion does not originate in Berlin. It reached here some days ago as an inquiry from Vienna to the foreign office as to what Germany thought of the two intervening, such intervention to be to restore order and reorganize the Turkish constabulary properly. The inquiry, it was assumed, rested upon a Russian-Austrian agreement. The identical question will probably be put to all the signitories of the Berlin treaty.

The German reply appears to have been conditionally affirmative. Since the territory to be occupied was held by Turkish troops, Turkey's consent ought to be secured. Germany, then would have no objection. But Turkey has not agreed to this, the reason put forward being that Turkey's prestige is engaged, the insurrection having gone too far for Turkey to withdraw. She has been told she must put down the rising promptly and was doing so. It was now nearly stamped out and the porte felt entirely competent to finish the work and also to defend itself against Bulgarian aggression.

The Farmer and Mechanic.

In 1850 the number of wage-earners in American factories was 957,059; in 1900 there were 5,316,802. This vast army of workers and those who are dependent upon them are pretty well distributed over the United States, and therefore in more or less contact with the agriculturists who produce the foodstuffs upon which they subsist. The question which the sensible farmer asks himself when he studies these figures and tries to interpret their meaning is: Would I sooner have an army of manufacturing producers and their dependents at my doors, and thus sure customers of my products, or would I prefer to see great armies of manufacturing hands in other countries and take my chances of selling to them.—San Francisco Chronicle.

In Those Good Old Days.

O, How our memory takes us back,
To the men with nerves of steel;
When mothers put their babes to sleep
By the hum of the spinning wheel.

With the scythe they mowed their grass,
With the sickle they cut their grain.
And in their heavy home-spun clothes,
They worked through snow and rain.

Their rifle was their trusted friend,
With ball and the powder horn,
And for strength, they looked with faith
To poor, old John Barley corn.

Now, we enjoy their sweat and toil,
Yet, with all our fate bemoan,
While they worked both night and day
And lived on fitch and pone.

Now, thousands in the church yard sleep
Their memory passed away,
But soon their God will wake them up
For the great, great Judgment Day.

Impaired Digestion

May not be all that is meant by dyspepsia now, but it will be if neglected.

The uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, sourness of the stomach, and disagreeable belching may not be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker.

Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that the tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by

THE FISH HATCHERY.

The Location is all Right and Work is Progressing Rapidly.

The latest news from the Fish Hatchery indicates that the work is moving along nicely.

The excavations for the hatchery house are completed. The building will be 32x125 feet and contain 100 troughs. Work on the house will commence this week, and it will be completed and ready to receive the eggs from the Allentown hatchery by the 1st of November. The frames are up for the concrete walls of five nursery ponds. The Hoy spring has developed almost double its expected capacity, for in digging the excavations a new lot of springs have been opened. A ten-inch pipe will be laid across the railroad to convey the water from the Shugert spring to the Hoy spring which will be raised 24 inches above its present level and a reservoir wall 24 feet square built around it. The water from the Ross spring will be used for ponds which will cover the greater part of the upper end territory. Water from the creek will be utilized to supply the lower ponds. A number of small ponds, 25 feet long and 10 feet wide, will be built between the hatchery house and the railroad for propagating gold fish for distribution in the public schools of the State, and also for the propagation of German carp as food for the black bass which will be cultivated on the Pruner property. The old shed over the Hoy spring has been moved to a spring on Mr. Hoy's own property, which the commission developed. The fish car, which is now undergoing repairs at the Youngstown car shops, has been named "Pennsylvania". It will arrive here about November 1, and its first shipment will be a load of fish from the Allentown hatchery to the Bellefonte hatchery. Next year it will convey the Pennsylvania fish exhibit to the St. Louis Fair. Bids for the erection of a house for this car will be given out shortly by the Bellefonte committee on promotion, who agreed to this stipulation and who have sufficient money on hand from subscriptions over what they paid for the land to accomplish it.

A dwelling house for the superintendent will be built on the Williams track along the road leading from the turnpike to the R. R. station, and will be ready for occupancy before winter sets in. The recent rains somewhat delayed work on the plant but it will now be pushed with redoubled energy.

Acting Superintendent Nathan R. Mullen of the Corry hatchery took sick last week and went home. He is back again. Superintendent John P. Crevling is now at Allentown preparing to take the eggs to be shipped to this station and making final arrangements for the removal of the State Hatchery to this place.

Duty of Tax Collectors.

An act passed at the last session of the legislature, approved April 21st, requires tax collectors, on or before the 10th of each month, after receiving the school duplicate, to deliver to the school board a written statement signed by him, "showing the names of all the persons from whom he has collected any school taxes on his duplicate, to and including the last day of the preceding month, the amount collected from each and the date of such collection, and also the amount of the uncollected school taxes upon the said duplicate," and on or before said tenth day pay over all money collected by him during preceding month. He shall also, if required, exhibit to the secretary, or any member of the board, the duplicate, showing the uncollected taxes. Neglect to do this is made a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not exceeding $100.

Largest Clock in the World.

The largest clock in the world, the dial of which will be 120 feet in diameter, is being built in Milwaukee for use at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition next year. Only the hands and machinery are being made there, for the dial is to be a brilliant bed of flowers. The clock will be placed on the side of the hill north of the Agricultural Building. The minute hand will be sixty feet long, and the ring at the end, which will be fastened to the machinery, will be eight feet in diameter. The minute hand will move five feet every minute. The numerals marking the various hours will be fifteen feet in length, and made of bright colored coleus. In a broad circle surrounding the dial will be twelve flower beds, one opposite each hour, and each two feet wide and 15 feet long. At night the timepiece will be illuminated with 2000 incandescent lights.

By the Country Editor.

The easiness of the newspaper man has been a personal subject for discussion for several years. His constant tale of woe concerning his need of cash has been a standing joke. But in reality the matter is not a joke and the discredit for it is more upon the community than the newspaper. Every week the newspaper speaks an encouraging word for some interest the prosperity of which directly affects the people of the locality whether it be a church fair, a new industry, or what not. For this the editor receives thanks. Thanks, like a recently advertised breakfast food, is "good for breakfast, dinner and supper." The editor eats them alive. Editors are not all poverty-stricken but mighty few of them ever get rich and every red cent they make they work for. The doctor settles in a town and pays about $200 for an equipment. He does all his work himself and pays no wages to anybody. When you go down to patronize him, however, you don't ask him if he can't saw your leg off for less than $2.99 and threaten to send to the State of Indiana for amputation at a place where they do good work for $2.78½. The grocer lays in a stock of $450 worth of goods and when you patronize him you don't ask for bids on the furnishing of two bars of soap, a can of tomatoes, two dozen jar rubbers and a pound of cheese. You don't ask the barber for a bid on a hair cut, shave and shampoo, and tell him that they only pay half that price out in Speedunk, Mo., and that they get perfumed soap besides. But the poor printer. He invests from one to ten thousand dollars in a plant, hires from one to a dozen people and pays them cash on Saturdays and then has to bid against the world for a two dollar job of printing. He doesn't mind it though. It adds strenuousness to his existence and makes life what Mr. Cleveland is wont to call "one grand sweet song." The glory of being pointed out to the populace, especially the sheriff, the constable and the fellow with the over due bill, as "the editor," is enough for anybody. Is it any wonder that so many country editors go to Congress? There are worse places than that, that are sometimes preferable to a country printing office.—Fall Creek Herald.

Curtis Johnson, of 583 Bishop street, freight truckman, says: "I had backache and lameness across my loins for a year or more. At times the lameness was so acute I could lift nothing and if I stooped it was impossible for me to straighten. When driving there was a steady aching over my kidneys the whole time and I had a dull tired feeling which took away all my ambition. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills from F. Potts Green's drug store and they soon cured me from the whole combination of troubles and they did it quickly and thoroughly. My wife was also suffering from a tired, grinding backache and she used Doan's Kidney Pills and they invigorated her generally. She now speaks of them as highly as I do. We never came across any remedy which surpassed Doan's Kidney Pills."

THE FIRST STEP

Of the child is an event in the mother's life. How proud she feels when the attempt to walk is begun so early as to evidence childish courage and sturdy strength. Such pride should be enjoyed by every mother. But it often happens that the child is timid, weak and deficient in vitality, and clings to the mother's arms with no desire to walk or play.

Mothers should learn that to have strong children they must themselves be strong, for the child's strength is the gift of the mother.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription by expectant mothers gives them health and strength to give their children. It nourishes the nerves, strengthens the body and gives great muscular strength and elasticity, so that the baby's advent is practically painless.

"I have been using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and can say it is just what you advertise it to be, and can cheerfully recommend it," writes Mrs. Victor J. Hadin, of Leonardville, Riley Co., Kansas. "I began taking it just two months before baby came and was greatly benefited by its use. The doctor who attended me said I did about as well as any one he had seen (as I was sick only about three hours), and also that your 'Favorite Prescription' was 'the one patent medicine' which he did have faith in.

"We now have a darling baby boy, strong and healthy, who weighed nine pounds when born (July 28th). During this month he has gained three and one-half pounds."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Road Improvements in the State.

State Highway Commissioner Joseph W. Hunter discussed the $6,000,000 appropriation made for road improvements by the State Legislature last winter with the supervisors of Indiana county recently. He explained that the appropriation is to be appropriated among the various townships that apply for it according to the number of miles in each. Consequently the money cannot be distributed until all the road in each township in the state have been measured and the number of miles returned to the state authorities. The measuring he said, is the first duty of the supervisors. Then if the township wishes to use its share of the appropriation for building roads the supervisors must petition the state for the money, agreeing to pay out of their funds one-sixth of the costs of the road and having the commissioners pay one-sixth. The state pays only two thirds of the cost of any road.

Mr. Hunter further stated that after a road is built the state pays 50 per cent. of the cost for keeping it in repair. Mr. Hunter said that a mile of good road could be built for between $3,000 and $5,000, the cost depending upon the present condition of the road and the proximity to the necessary material. Limestone makes the best road and a well built road will last ten years without repairs, said Mr. Hunter. This is the first body of roads supervisors Mr. Hunter has met since he has been road commissioner. He expects to address them whenever he has an opportunity.

Coming Convention.

The missionary leaders of the Methodist Episcopal church have announced a great missionary convention to be held in the academy of music, at Philadelphia, October 11 to 13. The convention is to be a delegated body, its clientele being drawn from New England and Middle Atlantic states. An attendance of more than 2,500 is anticipated.

Technically speaking, the convention is held under the auspices of the Open Door Emergency Commission of the missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church. This commission was originated by the board of bishops, and was organized primarily to devise ways and means for promoting a large missionary interest and enthusiasm among the three million members of the Methodist Episcopal church. Of this commission Bishop Edward G. Andrews, of New York, is chairman. Under it auspices there was held at Cleveland, Ohio, in October, 1902, the first general missionary convention of the Methodist Episcopal church. The denomination was profoundly stirred through that gathering, and the great subscription made by that convention of more than $300,00 to the cause of Methodist missions attracted widespread notice. It was because of the success of that gathering that the call came for the holding of a similar convention within more easy access of the Atlantic seaboard.

DOWIE'S BIG MISSION.

Zionist Leader's Plans to Evangelize New York.

EVERY HOUSE IS TO BE VISITED.

Ruler of Zion City Intends That None Shall Escape—Tracts Will Be Distributed—Madison Square Garden to Be Headquarters of Invading Army, Which Will Be Transported From Chicago in Ten Special Trains.

It is not a mere dalliance with superlatives to say that "Dr." John Alexander Dowie, ruler of Zion City, near Chicago, and head of the Christian Catholic Church In Zion, is the busiest and most optimistic man in Illinois today, says the New York Herald. With all his other manifold tasks he is concerning himself night and day with the coming mission of his "restoration host" to New York, when the evangelization of the metropolis will begin.

Plans for the invasion and the campaign to redeem New York from the imps of darkness have been formulated to the smallest detail. Ten trains have been engaged to transport the host eastward. These will leave Chicago by various trunk lines, and all are scheduled to arrive in New York on Friday, Oct. 16. Dowie's own train will be the last to leave Zion City and the first to reach New York.

In Dowie's private car, which will be magnificently appointed and donated for the purpose by the Nickel Plate road, will ride "Elijah II.," Mrs. Dowie, Gladstone Dowie, their attendants and the immediate staff of the general overseer. This train is to reach New York at a quarter past 7 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 16.

A complete telegraph system will be installed in this train in charge of a competent operator. By this means Dowie will receive hourly reports from each of the other nine trains, giving its exact location, progress and such other information as may be deemed desirable to the leader of the conquering host. Dowie will be the flying king, giving his orders en route to his followers. Nine of the trains will consist of ten day cars, with sleeping cars attached.

Specific orders have been given by Dowie to the entire host that each member must eat in Madison Square Garden, where extensive preparations are being made to take care of the restorationists. There will be no lavish meals and no putting on of frills in the eating of them, but the food is to be wholesome, and two meals a day will be served for 25 cents.

Deacon Frank W. Cotton will be commissary of the host, and under his charge will be the entire kitchen staff of Elijah Hospice—Zion City's name for a hotel—Edina Hospice and Zion Home No. 1. This force will attend to the cooking of the meals, the cooks to work in relays, so that the work devolving upon each may be as light as possible. Madison Square Garden will present the spectacle of from 3,000 to 5,000 Zionists eating at once. Dishes are to be taken along. These are already provided for in Zion City. Breakfast will be served at 8 o'clock and dinner at 5 o'clock in the evening. Every restorationist must be on hand at the garden for these two meals. If his appetite becomes too strong to wait for the 5 o'clock meal he may buy a lunch at an eating house in the territory to which he will be assigned for missionary work. The Zion band of forty pieces will wake the echoes, and the adult choir of 350 members and the junior choir of 200 voices will unite in the battle hymns of the church.

While in New York the host will take part in the early morning meetings of praise and prayer, at which Dr. Dowie will deliver addresses on the eleven commandments, taking one each morning, and four other subjects, which he will select for the fifteen days. As soon as possible after breakfast the contingents will form their seventies and leave Madison Square Garden for the districts allotted to them for the day's work. At 10 o'clock every morning the general overseer will hold a meeting in Madison Square Garden, at which the host will not be present. At these meetings Dowie hopes to give divine healing teaching and to spend much time with the ill and suffering. The members of the host will be expected to return to Madison Square Garden for their labors at 4 p. m. A hot dinner of three or four courses will be served at 5 p. m. This will give ample time to get ready for the evening meeting. There are to be no afternoon meetings.

ROXBURGHE'S ESTATE.

Facts About Floors Castle, Miss Goelet's Future Home.

Miss May Goelet, the fiancee of the Duke of Roxburghe, will be on historic ground when she places her dainty foot upon the 60,500 acres of the duke in the heart of Roxburghshire, in England, says the New York Press. Though not his birthplace, this county is the land of Sir Walter Scott. Possibly her great love for the Waverley novels romantically inclined Miss Goelet toward the young man whose ancestors were friends of the famous novelist. The original spelling was Roxburgh. The town which gave the county its name is still so spelled. Celebrated battles were fought near Floors castle, the peculiar name of the seat of the Dukes of Roxburghe, and none was more bloody than that of Ancrum Moor. Here it was that Lilliard, a Scottish maiden, did prodigies of valor.

Some of the Goelet millions will make Floors castle as fine as the Vanderbilt millions have made Blenheim. The renowned old cockroach-cobweb hall will readily absorb about $7,000,000 before it gets into condition for the heiress. Floors has long been celebrated for its gardens and conservatories, the best kept up places of their kind in Scotland. The castle is very old. As far back as 1460, when it was held by the English, King James II. of Scotland laid siege to it, and was blown to pieces by the bursting of a cannon. The very spot on which the king died is pointed out to visitors.

PENNY BATHS FOR THE POOR

A Plan From Bonn on the Rhine to Benefit Chicago.

Floating bath houses will dot the Chicago river next summer, and the poor will have a chance to keep clean at the rate of 1 cent a bath, says the Chicago Chronicle. Henry E. Weaver will find the money to build the barges, buy the towels and the first cargo of soap, and the bath houses will be expected to pay for their keeping after that. But this is not all. Artistic fountains will adorn the ghetto district, and it will be Mr. Weaver's money that will build at least one of these.

"In Europe fresh running water does much to make the cities attractive," said Mr. Weaver. "Why should not the same be true in Chicago?"

The bath scheme comes from Bonn on the Rhine. "They have floating bath houses there that measure 40 by 100 feet," said Mr. Weaver. "Thousands bathe during the season, and the inhabitants, no matter how poor they may be, are always clean. The advisability of a floating bath house may be readily seen. Sometimes the poor will not travel far to bathe, but bring the means to their doors, and it is a different matter. The barges are moored to the bank and remain until the inhabitants of one section of the city are clean. Then they float down the river to another point. The charge of 1 cent will pay the cost of keeping the baths. The water in the Chicago river is plenty good enough to bathe in."

Chinese Coins as Trimmings.

Chinese and Japanese ideas are being incorporated in woman's dress to a remarkable degree, says the New York Press. A girl recently wore a kimono shaped coat in Fifth avenue. The hat was of robin's egg blue broadcloth. The collar and front of the coat were trimmed with Chinese embroidery in peacock blue. It was a savage dragon design. But most remarkable of all were the Chinese coins that were sewed on the coat as an additional trimming at the neck. These coins also formed bangles. It was a striking effect, but not altogether in good taste.

The New French Coins.

Samples of the new French nickel coins were stamped recently and look very neat, says a Paris cable dispatch to the New York Herald. They are of pure metal. The design consists of the head of a figure representing the republic, very graceful in outline, without any ornamentation on the reverse. The new coins have a great advantage over the heavy copper coins. The metal, being more durable, will last longer than silver, and the figures are not easily effaced. The mint has begun coining them for general use.

A Lofty Tower.

In September.

When September breezes blow
O'er the landscape's pleasant miles
Maidens chatter in a row
Of the coming winter styles.

Then the matrons sit and spin
Yarns about their family trees
Or the social sets they're in
Or about such things as these.

And the youths for glory thirst
On the gory football field,
Or where bowlers do their worst
Or where other spiels are spieled.

But the badgered family man
With a look that's full of care
Doth his coal bill fiercely scan,
Sweat for fair and tear his hair.

Begged to Be Locked-up.

Having been on a debauch for several days and likely to continue in that state indefinitely owing to his supposed unability to resist the cravings for strong drink, a mechanic employed on a job near Lock Haven approached Chief of Police Lannen of that city Friday forenoon and begged to be locked up in jail in order that he could procure no more fire water until he became sobered up and his appetite had simmered down. At first the chief thought the man was jesting, but he insisted so strenuously that he was made a voluntary prisoner and was escorted to jail and locked in a cell. He informed the chief that when he got over the effects of the spree and felt able to steer clear of saloons that he would send for him to let him out.

THE GENUINE VS. COUNTERFEITS.

The genuine is always better than a counterfeit but the truth of this estatement is never more forcibly realized or more thoroughly appreciated than when you compare the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve with the many counterfeits and worthless substitutes that are on the market. W. S. Ledbetter, of Shreveport, La., says: "After using numerous other remedies without benefit, one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me." For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles no remedy is equal to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

Dr. Geo. Ewing, a practicing physician of Smith's Grove, Ky., for over thirty years, writes his personal experience with Foley's Kidney Cure: "For years I had been greatly bothered with kidney and bladder trouble and enlarged prostrate glands. I used everything known to the profession without relief, until I commenced to use Foley's Kidney Cure. After taking three bottles I was entirely relieved and cured. I prescribe it now daily in my practice and heartily recommend its use to all physicians for such troubles. I have prescribed it in hundreds of cases with perfect success." C. M. Parrish.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.
Washington D. C., Sept. 21, 1903.

There is some anxiety among timorous people in Washington because of the action of the American Federation of Labor taken in connection with W. A. Miller case and the President's declared "open door" policy with regard to union and non-union labor, in the Government service. The Central Labor Union of the District of Columbia has sent to every organization affil ated with the Federation a copy of resolutions requesting the President to dismiss Miller and retract his avowed policy with regard to union and non-union labor. It is seen that this is the first step in an organized opposition to President Roosevelt's nomination. There are, it is claimed, 2,500,000 members of the federated labor organizations and the results of an organized opposition if it could throw this vote in block would doubtless prove formidable.

The idea that the President will for a moment consider the possibility of receding from the stand he has taken is not entertained by those who know him and who can view his actions, in so far as they relate to union labor, from a dispassionate standpoint. Mr. Roosevelt is firmly convinced that he is in the right in his "open door" declaration and it would appear that this fact should have appealed to the labor organizations. It is pointed out that in working for the government laborers are under no necessity of organizing to protect themselves or to secure shorter hours or larger wages, whatever may be the conditions that confront them when working for individuals or corporations. The government always pays liberally and is an easy task master. It is, therefore, obvious that the unions would be wiser to accept the dictum of the President rather than to antagonize him.

In the case of Miller, it is stated on excellent authority that strong recommendations have gone to the President that he be dismissed, these recommendations being based on facts other than that he has been expelled from the bookbinders' union, and that patience on the part of the unions would probably be rewarded with the discharge of their old enemy. In view of the action of the Central Labor Union, however, the discharge of Miller might now be ascribed to fear on the part of the President and there is nothing that would prove more repugnant to him than to be called upon to take action which might be so interpreted. It is claimed that already ten states have been heard from endorsing the resolutions of disapproval of the President's course.

The District of Columbia grand jury has returned three more indictments against persons believed to have defrauded the government through postal contracts. One of the persons indicted is George W. Beavers, former superintendent of the division of salaries and allowances, in fact there are believed to be two indictments against him, but the indentity of the other person is concealed pending his arrest. A decision against the contention of Beavers' attorneys by United States Commissioner Hitchcock in New York is the occasion of great satisfaction to those officials charged with prosecuting the postal cases. In effect, this decision, which obliges Beavers to return to the Brooklyn jurisdiction without and exhibition by the government of its entire case against him, nullifies the entire effect of his flight from Brooklyn, when he heard of his indictment and, moreover, establishes a precedent whereby he can be brought to Washington on indictments obtained here. It will also apply in the cases of Maurice, Isaac S. McGeehan and George H. Huntington all of whom are in New York and all of whom have been indicted here. For the first time the close of the Postoffice investigation is definitely predicted. It is stated that the present grand jury which goes out of existence October 5, will by that time have considered all the cases in hand and that after that date only the legal prosecutions will remain. It is further announced that Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow will complete and hand to the President his report on the investigation, some time in October.

A remarkable record of effectual target shooting with large guns has just been made by the crew of the Indiana, at a range of from 1,400 to 1,600 yards. With the 6 inch guns an average of 75 per cent of hits was made, while the rate of firing was unusually fast and the vessel from which the guns were fired was kept going at full speed. With the 8 inch guns a record score of 87,5 per cent of his was made the firing being at a rapid rate. The last four shots fired with 8 inch guns all made a bulls-eye, notwithstanding the fact that the bull's-eye is only 50 inches square. When the last bulls-eye was made the men became so enthusiastic that when the gun pointer emerged from the turrent he was seized by the men and despite his struggles to get away, was carried up to the bridge where he was presented to the Captain and all the officers and umpires shook hands with him.

INTERESTING OLD PAPERS.

Which Record at Length the Funeral of George Washington and Other Events.

Mrs. Belle Hayes, widow of the late Lieutenant William Hayes, of Mackeyville, has in her possession some newspapers, which on account of their early date of publication make them relics of extreme interest. One is a fac-simile of the "Boston News Letter," of Boston Mass., the first newspaper published in America, giving the news from Monday, April 17 to Monday, April 24, 1704. The first two pages or one side of the sheet is devoted to news and the opposite side of the sheet contains cuts of the first steam railroad passenger train in America and the first steam locomotive in the world. Another is the Ulster County Gazette, published at Kingstown, Ulster county, N. Y., under date of Saturday, January 4, 1800. One full page of this issue is devoted to the death and funeral arrangements and burial of George Washington, who died on December 14, 1799 in his 68th year, Its a four page journal with four columns to the page and was edited and published by Samuel Freer & Son. In its columns are found the advertisement of a sale of personal property, among which was a stout, hearty, active negro wench that John Schoonover Jr., of Rochester, N. Y., desired to dispose of on November 13, 1799. These and many other antiquated papers that Mrs. Hayes has now in her possession were found among the belongings of her mother's brother Isaac Robinson, who died at the home of her mother. Mrs. Hugh Conley a few years ago. Mrs. Hayes cherishes the old relics, as well she may, for no doubt there are but few such in existance any where.

—Bud Woodring, of Milesburg, assisted Operator Burkholder at the P. R. R., station for a few days in the absence of H. L. Hutchinson.

—The railroad bridge over the race, leading into the Fuel & Supply Company's coal yard has been repaired in a substantial manner by the Railroad Company.

—The American Kinetograph Company is booked to give an entertainment in Petrikin Hall, October 2. It is one of the best Moving Picture shows on the road.

—The wheat crop in Europe is short this year, and the crop in the United States is not so bountiful as it was last year. The wheat dealers of the United States will make immense shipments to supply the foreign demands. Hence the present high price of flour.

—C. E. Greninger, who robbed the mails at Williamsport, and the four men captured by the Centre county sheriff and posse in the Seven mountains, will be tried before the United States district and circuit court at Scranton on Monday, October 19.

—Miss Mary daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Musser, of Haines township after a short illness of typhoid fever, died on Tuesday morning, aged 21 years, 7 months and 23 days. Funeral services were held this (Thursday) morning at 9.30 o'clock. Rev. F. E. Lauffer conducted the services, assisted by Rev. B. R. M. Sheeder. Interment in the Lutheran cemetery at Aaronsburg.

—Eddie Martz, of Pine Grove, was out on the mountain for berries a few days ago when he came across a big rattler. He decided to capture it alive and after carefully looking over the situation made a dive and caught it with a tight grip around the neck. He carried it home triumphantly while his snakeship made music with its nine rattles. He has it caged and many visitors are seeing his zoo these days.

THE CURTIN MONUMENT.

A Timely Communication From "Citizen" on this Question

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:

I wish to commend to wide spread public consideration the thoughtful suggestion made by General Beaver at Pine Grove Mills, last week to the annual Reunion of the veterans regarding the "Governor Curtin and Centre county Soldiers Memorial."

It was unquestionably in line with the best accepted ideals of such memorials now becoming almost universally accepted in this country, which in such things is more active than any other nation, and for abundant reason.

That a building instead of Monument is more effective as a "memorial" is being increasingly appreciated by artists and more and more understood by the people at large.

Witness: to mention a few of the better known examples.

1, The "Hall of Fame" at the University of New York.

2. The newly projected "Henry Ward Beecher Memorial" in Brooklyn, to contain his desk, chair and other interesting personal possessions and a library for the use of the church.

3, No building at Harvard University is more noted and honored than the big "Memorial Hall" built to commemorate the sons of Harvard who fought in the last war, even though it be used only as a Dining Hall, a Theatre and Portrait Gallery.

4, The Confederate Association at Richmond have shown their wisdom by inaugurating a "Museum" to perpetuate forever, by a splendid collection of historic objects, the memory of the brave men who fought for a system in in which for generations, they had been reared.

5, Yale University has lately erected a "Memorial building" in memory of her sons, "The Nathan Hale School" a building used by the Martyr spy has been purchased by a Revolutionary Society, brought back to its original condition and fitted up to be used as its Club House.

Finally, as an illuminating example let me point to what best perpetuates the memory of a Washington! Is it the countless statues spread in every city of the law? Is it even that mighty shaft of stone towering over the city of Washington?

Is it not rather "Mount Vernon" where he lived and died, preserved by a grateful nation to show to all generations what sort of a man her great First President was and the times in which he lived. Where are the youths of the county best inspired with the spirit of his life? Is it before bronze or stone, voiceless, empty and silent? or before the abode of the living man and the place where his career was ended? The Home, he loved, the rooms, the chairs, the furniture he used, the landscape on which he gazed, the trees under which he rested, the scenes amid which he meditated on the great events of which he had been the central figure; the home from which he started to take up his great task.

* * * *

The place of the great War Governors of the Northern States is assured in History. They were great men, or perhaps they were great because of the burdens laid upon them and to which they proved themselves equal.

The figure of the Keystone Governor looms large among the rest. Pennsylvania was indeed a Keystone, the central block of the Northern arch. The comparative narrow territory as a connecting link between the larger areas on the East and West.

On the North she touches the shore of Canadian waters on the South the border was assailed and penetrated by the foe.

It is most perfectly in harmony with the whole spirit of Gov. Curtin's career that with his memory in this, his home should be associated the memorial of all the soldiers of Centre county. He was the soldiers' friend, careful of them as a father.

Let the State do her part at Harrisburg, as in the battle flag wing of the white capitol at Hartford, under the gilded dome of Connecticut, sits the bronze figure of Buckingham, her great war Governor. So let the new capitol at Harrisburg contain a memorial fitting for the place. That is for the State to do.

But for us in Bellefonte we have not even yet a Soldiers Monument, thousands of villages, East and West half our size have done this long ago, but waiting is good if we can obtain a perfect result in the end.

We have Hospital now so that does not stand in the way.

A building then, to contain a likeness, not a cold likeness, on which the rain shall beat empty, hollow, with out ever a printed word to speak, of all for which it stands, save an epitaph at the base, to honor the name of Curtin Bellefonte's most famous son.

Let the names of every soldier, with regiment and company be engraved, or portrayed or displayed on the walls within or without. Let place be found for the list of Revolutionary Soldiers buried in Centre county, which the Daughters of the Revolutionary have collected. If there were any from Centre county, who fought in the war 1812 and the Mexican war, let them also find a place.

Let it be a "Curtin Memorial Building" let it contain a Public Library when the children of the future can read the History of the War. Let it be a Museum of the Civil War, of general History. Let it also be a "Memorial to the soldiers of Centre County" with their names therein perpetuated forever. Let it contain the portraits of all Bellefonte's Governors.

And then we shall have done no more than our duty, seized a great opportunity and have the satisfaction of feeling that we have not failed when others have obtained an adequate result. To plan largely and be patient of the complete fulfiliment is the sure road to ultimate success. They are many, very many towns of half our size and one quarter yes, one twentieth our wealth where some thrifty citizen has left nearly his all, of twenty or thirty thousand dollars for a Soldiers monument or a Public Library and Historic Museum or all these combined.

What needs to be done now is to awaken the public spirit to understand the idea, the opportunity and the duty.

Nothing short of the best will ever satisfy individuals or communities. Some have nearly attained it. Why not we?

Mr. Pattison resolution is in the way of a first step.

Although he signs himself the same, the writer of this is not the same person who sent the last communication to the DAILY NEWS and also used the word

READY FOR BUSINESS.

The Bellefonte Gas and Steam Heat Company in Excellent Shape.

A reporter for the Republican happening to pass the Gas and Steam Heati works the other day dropped in to see how things were progressing there and was agreeably surprised at what he saw. The public is very much concerned in this company and its welfare as many of our residences and business places depend on it for light and heat and in the past there has been complaint in regard to the service.

On the first of September a new company took control and the prospects are bright for the future.

We found a force of men busy at work finishing up repairs so that now the steam can be turned on in two hours time if necessary.

The boilers have all been repaired and put in shape for business. An excellent service is promised patrons and it undoubtedly will be carried out. The heat will be turned on without fail on October 1 and if the weather grows any colder it will be turned on before that time. New Shaker grates have been purchased and will arrive next week. This will increase the heating power.

Further repairs will be made at once and extensive improvements will be made this fall and next summer. Material and pipe have been ordered and are on the way.

Next summer will see an entire new gas plant installed which will be one of the finest in the state. These facts above stated are of interest to Bellefonte as the loss of this plant would be a serious blow to the town.

STALWART PARTY MEN

The Republican Nominees for State Treasurer and Auditor General.

TWO ORGANIZATION FAVORITES

Each Has Won the Esteem and Support of His Neighbors, and Both Are Enthusiastically Backed By Those Who Know Them Best.

[Special Correspondence.]

Harrisburg, Sept. 22.—In their candidates for state treasurer and auditor general the Republicans of Pennsylvania have standard bearers who have earned recognition from their state and their party.

William L. Mathues, the nominee for state treasurer, is one of the most aggressive, progressive and intelligent young Republicans in the party organization. He was born March 24, 1862, in Delaware county, Pa., and received his early education in the public schools and is a graduate of the public high school at Media, Pa. He studied law in the office of Hon. John M. Broomall, the Nestor of the Delaware county bar, and was admitted to practice in November, 1884.

WILLIAM L. MATHUES,
Candidate for State Treasurer.

A CANDIDATE STRONG AT HOME.

Mr. Mathues has always taken an active interest in public affairs. He served in the capacity of deputy sheriff for two years from January, 1885, and then became deputy prothonotary of Delaware county, which position he held until 1892. In November, 1891, he was elected to the office of prothonotary and clerk of the courts of Delaware county and took the oath of office to that position in the following January. He gave eminent satisfaction in the discharge of his official duties, so much so that he was repeatedly urged to continue in office, and in March last he received a unanimous nomination to succeed himself for a fifth term.

Meanwhile, a movement was started among Republicans of Delaware and neighboring counties in favor of his nomination for state treasurer. The suggestion of Mr. Mathues for this honor was very favorably received throughout the state, and in a short time he was admittedly the popular choice in the party organization, and his nomination by the Republican state convention by a unanimous vote followed.

Mr. Mathues is the acknowledged leader of the Republicans of Delaware county. He has labored intelligently and unceasingly in behalf of the Republican party and in the support of its principles, and to him must be given much of the credit for the harmonious conditions which exist among the Republicans of Delaware county. He has been chairman of the Delaware county executive committee for the last six years and has represented his party in numerous conventions.

He has a large personal acquaintanceship in social and business circles, besides through his political affiliations. He is a member of the Sons of Veterans, Junior Order of the United American Mechanics, the orders of the Elks and the Eagles, the K. of M., the I. O. R. M. and other social and beneficial organizations.

SENATOR SNYDER'S CAREER.

William Preston Snyder, the nominee for auditor general, was born in East Vincent township, Chester county, Pa., October 7, 1851, which county he is now representing in the state senate for the third consecutive term.

WILLIAM P. SNYDER,
Candidate for Auditor General.

His early education was received in the public schools, in the place of his birth, and farm work occupied his time, when not engaged in fortifying himself with intellectual training. Later in life he attended the Millersville state normal school and Ursinus College, both well-known Pennsylvania institutions.

During the winter of '68 and '69 he taught school. After a course of study he was graduated as physician in March, 1875, from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania. He returned to Chester county, Spring City, where he now resides, and began the practice of medicine, and continued as practitioner until 1886, when he accepted a position as medical examiner for the relief department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which position he held for nearly two years, from February, 1886. He served as postmaster of Spring City from October, 1883, until August, 1885. Senator Snyder has always taken a lively interest in politics, and has been an active worker in all of the campaigns of his party. In 1887 he was nominated for prothonotary of his county and was elected by a large majority, and served in that office until January, 1891. The year preceding his relinquishment of the office he was made chairman of the county Republican committee. At the county primaries in the fall of 1890, while serving as prothonotary, he was nominated for member of the house and was elected. He was a delegate from Chester to the Republican state gubernatorial convention in 1878 and to the state convention that nominated General James A. Beaver for governor in 1882. In 1892 Mr. Snyder was elected to the senate. In the session of 1895 he was chairman of the committee on health sanitation, and in 1897 chairman of the committee on railroads. In 1896 he was re-elected to the senate by nearly 8000 majority, having received nearly twice as many votes as his Democratic and Prohibition opponents combined.

At the opening of the session of 1899 he was elected president pro tem., and filled the position with dignity, credit and acceptability, as he did in 1901. During the campaign of 1900 a determined effort was made by the Democrats and Independents to defeat Mr. Snyder for election to a third term, but he won by a plurality of over 1700.

WORKED FOR THE FARMERS.

No more popular man sat in the chair of president pro tem. of the state senate, a fact which was attested by his second election as presiding officer, a distinction rarely accorded to a senator. At the session of 1903 he was chairman of the committee of appropriations. During his legislative career Mr. Snyder was conspicuous as a champion of the interests of the farmers of Pennsylvania. He was an ardent, consistent and determined advocate of legislation to protect the pure butter interests. He stood like a stone wall against the efforts of the oleomargarine trust, and was largely responsible for the passage of laws advocated by the butter and dairy men. Were it not for the efforts of men like Senator Snyder, the farmers of Pennsylvania would today be at the mercy of the oleomargarine trust.

—At the home of the bride's parents at Philipsburg Miss Bessie Irwin was united in marriage to Forest Stonebraker, by Rev. G. L. Graham of the U. B. church of that town, Thursday evening. Only the relatives and a few special friends were present. The bride is a pretty and very highly esteemed young lady and the groom is one of Philipsburg's noblest young men, who has the highest regard of the community.

—The resignation of Mr. Richie, chancellor of the British exchequer, was no surprise to the general public. It is understood that Mr. Richie is an old-fashioned conservative and that he positively refused to remain a member of a government whose head even slightly favored the economic notions of Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary. But few were prepared for the resignation of Mr. Chamberlain. At the present moment no particulars have been made public, but it is asserted that the colonial secretary is going out of the cabinet because Mr. Balfour does not occupy sufficiently advanced ground. From which it must be inferred that he is in favor of putting a tax on breadstuffs imported from other than the colonies, and that he is unwilling to accept the compromise held out by the premier. Evidently British political affairs are getting into a decided muddle.

The Panther Hunting Club.

The Panther Hunting Club is the name by which a crowd of jolly sportsmen most of whom are from Bellefonte have styled the organization in which they are banded together.

They held a meeting Monday evening in the reading rooms at the Garman House and elected their officers for the ensuing year and discussed plans for depopulating the woods and mountains of sundry deer, bear, rabbits, squirrel, pheasants, quail and what not.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows:

President—J. Linn McGinley.
Treasurer—R. S. Brouse.
Secretary—C. Bruce Garman.

The members of the club besides the above mentioned trio are Messrs. Lewis Gettig, W. C. Cassidy, Joseph W. Rightnour, Jack Decker, H. C. Quigley, John Knisely, Charles Heisler, of Bellefonte; Frank Martin and Frank Heller, of Berwick; Jacob Heaton and Jacob Bathurst, of Eddy's Lick.

The club will start on their annual hunting expedition about November 1. They have not decided where they will definitely camp but are thinking of going to the Scootac region. Next year they are figuring on going to Canada for a six weeks hunting trip after big game.

This is the club that last year brought home the largest deer of the season besides a numerous amount of small game.

They will no doubt have some wonderful stories to regale their friends with on their return from this years hunt.

Funeral of John Anderson Sr.

The funeral services over the remains of the late John Anderson Sr., took place Friday morning at ten o'clock from St. John's Catholic church and proved solemn and impressive. There was a large attendance of sorrowing friends and relatives and many beautiful floral tributes reposed beside the casket. Two of the finest floral offerings were from Gregg Post, No 95 G. A. R., and from Bellefonte Castle, No 357 K. G. E., to both of which organizations the deceased belonged.

The requiem mass was read by Rev. Patrick McArdle who also delivered a short sermon in which he spoke highly of the departed one.

The Bellefonte Castle K. G. E., attended the funeral in a body and at the grave Sir Knights S. D. Gettig and James Rote conducted the services.

The active pall-bearers were D. F. Fortney, W. C. Heinle, M. Cunningham, Charles Smith, James Schofield and John Keichline.

The honorary pall-bearers were S. H. Williams, James Harris, W. A. Isbler, Thomas Donachy, Henry Taylor W. T. Twitmire, A. C. Mingle, John Woomer and Joseph Ceader.

Interment was made in the Union cemetery.

Checking Babies.

A novel order has been given out at Swift's Chicago plant. Many women with babies visit the plant constantly, some in pursuit of knowledge, others out of morbid curiosity. Invariably they visit the killing-floor, for this is really the place to which their real curiosity attaches. No matter what the effect is on the mother, the men on the killing-floor report that the sight has a terrifying effect on the babies. For this reason, the practice of taking children through the plant will be stopped. They will have to be checked like a bag or an unbrella, or any other old thing, and left in the nursery until mamma completes her tour of inspection. One mean thing about it will be that the packers will have to buy milk from the dairy combination to keep the bottles replenished, as a precaution against the suspension of business until mamma returns. Now it is in order for some blossoming genius to see in the new departure a step in advance of a corner on the baby market.—The Country Gentleman.

James Lewis Again.

Conclusive evidence has come to light that James Lewis, one of the quartet of robbers captured in the Seven Mountains in June, can point to Potter township as his residence at one time. Lewis was the man shot in the neck, and while at the point of death at the Potters Mills hotel, he remarked that he had friends living within a short distance, but that he would rather die than reveal his identity. At the time, little thought was given to this expression, but it has since been discovered that he spoke the truth. His parents are both dead, but other relatives survive.

Lewis, which name however is an alias, with his parents, at one time lived near Mifflinburg, and it is reasonable to credit him and his gang with the robberies committed in Penns Valley on former occasions. His hands, no doubt, was in the post office robberies at Centre Hall and State College several years ago.

—Married—In Johnstown, August 25th, at the residence of the bride's sister, Miss Annie F. Treverer, of Seanor, Pa., and Matthew W. Swabb, formerly of Aaronsburg, but now of Manor, Pa., were united in marriage by Rev. Seer. After spending a week at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Lizzie Swabb, at Aaronsburg, they immediately commenced housekeeping at Manor where Mr. Swabb has a lucrative position. His many friends at his former home wish the happy couple abundant prosperity.

Curtin Monument and Soldiers Memorial.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:

The following extract from a report of the Veterans Reunion held at Pine Grove Mills, September 12, 1903, is certainly an interesting bit of news for friends of the Soldiers and admirers of Gov. Curtin, in Centre Co, especially, and of the entire state of Penna as well.

President Beaver made a verbal report of the Curtin monument and Soldiers Memorial committee stating that the matter was still in statu quo, nothing definite as to the design of the monument having been agreed upon.

Stop, think,—it is now 38 years since the close of the civil war, and 9 years, since the death of the great War Governor, and yet we are coolly informed, that "matters are still in statu quo, and nothing definite agreed upon." For many years, lack of money was given as a reason and that was reasonable, but now it seems the only excuse is the "design of the monument."

That is getting down to a fine point. Centre Co. asks and Bellefonte insists that the gentlemen of the Committee, get together and do something—cities and counties, all over the State have long ago erected monuments in memory of their Soldiers. In the name of Common sense why should Centre Co, be so far behind? It is altogether fitting, that whether it be, a Monument or as some suggest a Memorial Hall, that it be pushed to completion during the lifetime of that highly respected and very estimable lady—Mrs. Gov. Curtin.

The second anniversary of the death of President McKinley was observed Monday by the federal officials and employes. The statue of the president in the post-office at Philadelphia was decorated with carnations and wreaths. On the desks of each official stood a large bouquet of McKinley's favorite flower, and employes all wore the carnation.

Mischter Druder! — Ich hab gemeent, daß ebaut verzig Johr zurück die groß Frog wegich die Schwarze wär gesettelt worre. Es scheint awer net, bekohs, es vergeht schier ken Dag, wo mer net heert, daß do oder dort en Neger Druwel gemacht hot oder in Druwel gerothe is. Wann en Schwarzer bei seine Trials gestäpft werd, dann werd gewehnlich dorfor gesorgt, daß er es net wieder dhut. Awer die Annere nemme sich ken Sossen dran un so geht awe die Lumperei fort. Es scheint, daß die Niggers for des Land so viel zu dhun en Gefallt sen. Es wär allerdings, daß so freigemacht sen worre, allen wenn sie sell Breslamahsin gehawe hät, denn hät ich ebaut letstens gesaht: „Ne, die dunnerwetterische Kerls, nau sen ihr frei. Loßt awer eier Händ net juscht dun anner Leit ihr Hinkel, sundern ah dun unsere Mäd; liegt net uf d'r faule Haut rum, sundern schafft; lernt fleißig un wann ihr dann emol so weit sen, daß ihr en Zeiting lese kennt un ah wißt, was in d'r Welt vorgeht, dann kennt ihr eich melde, un dann sen ihr ah Sittifens un kennt stimme bei d'r Letschen, awer nit vorher." Ich meen, sell wär allrecht gewßt. Kummt en Mann dun Deitschland in des do Land rei, dann muß er finf Johr warte, eb er en Sittifen werre kann un wann er siewe unnerschiedliche Sproche schwätze un schreiwe kennt. Sell werd gedhu, daß er sich erscht bekannt mache kann mit unsere freie Institutschens, eb mer ihm so en hoch un heilig Ding, wie des Stimmrecht eens is, in die Hand gebt. Awer die Nagger sen je grad dum Säufiall zum Letschenpohl genumme un je stimme losse. War sell net en bissel zu viel? D'r Guter Waschington, was ah partly dun die Schwarze abstammt, awer eener dun die gelernichste Männer im ganze Land is, segt grad so. BIG TROPICAL STORM

TERRIFYING TO A DEGREE

However, Damage Was Not so Great, Conservative Estimate Placing it at $25,000 or $30,000

BAD AT DELAWARE BREAKWATER

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., September 17.—The tropical storm which struck the New Jersey coast early Wednesday morning was one of the severest experienced for a long time. The wind blew with hurricane force and while it lasted kept up a speed of seventy miles an hour. The storm was terrifying to a degree, but the damage was not as great as was at first believed. A conservative estimate places the entire damage at $25,000 or $30,000. The telegraph and telephone lines leading out of the city were all down and the fact that the city was cut off from connection with the outside world started wild rumors that the great resort had been entirely swept away. The first train in from Philadelphia and other points brought down excited relatives and friends who were anxious after the welfare of their loved ones and who found them well and happy and telling amusing stories about the freaks of the storm.

Great damage was done along the boardwalk where the one-story pavilions suffered to a considerable extent.

The storm's fiercest attack was made on the McClay apartment building at Pacific and South Carolina avenues. The roof was more than half torn off, entailing a loss of $2,500. The other largest damage was done at the Hotel Strand, situated on Pennsylvania avenue close to the beach. This hotel's handsome brick and frame porch was completely ripped out and demolished by the wind. Outside of these places the damage otherwise consisted of broken plate glass windows, tin roofs curled up, awnings blown down, and trees uprooted, while in the inlet district, at the upper end of Atlantic City a number of boats were torn from their moorings and several boat houses were blown over.

When the roof of the McClay building blew off, the fifty or more families in the house were thrown into a panic. They were quickly pacified, however, and all left the building. One sick lad, John Flanagan, suffering from fever was hurried to a hospital.

Young's pier was slightly damaged. The territory in the vicinity of the pier was made dangerous by flying glass. Big bulk windows gave away under pressure of the storm and pieces of glass flew in all directions. The affected territory was roped off by the police and a squad of Sons of Veterans, now in convention here, volunteered to do police duty. At this point, Dr. Richard Pancoast, aged 70 years, of Philadelphia, was blown down by the wind on the boardwalk, and he suffered a fracture of the hip. He was taken to the city hospital.

Among the hotels whose roofs were damaged by the storm were the Marlborough, Metropolitan, Kuehules, Kenelworth and Richmond. None of them very seriously damaged.

The handsome decorations on the Red Men's Hall, in honor of the convention of the great council of the United States now in session here, were completely swept away. The decorating had cost $500.

Railroad trains left on schedule time and a large number of timid visitors hurriedly left town. The 2 o'clock express was the longest train out of this city this season.

Discriminating Against Women.

One of the largest railroad corporations in this country has decided that the female stenographers in its employ will not be allowed to qualify for promotion, nor shall they be eligible for its pension list. This is a sweeping decision and probably represents sentiment other than that of the corporation. Fifty years ago no one imagined that a woman could be a stenographer, and the idea of their entering the ranks of men to compete in heavier brainwork would have been regarded as ridiculous. It cannot be said that they have conquered every branch of endeavor, but they have done wonders in the third of a century, and they may even dissipate the prejudice of this western railway corporation before the half of the present century is reached.

CONSUMPTION THREATENED.

"I was troubled with a hacking cough for a year and I thought I had consumption," says C. Unger, 211 Maple st., Champaign, Ill. "I tried a great many remedies and I was under the care of physicians for several months. I used one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, now since." C. M. Parrish.

The Moving Picture Show.

One of the best moving picture shows ever given in Bellefonte was that presented by the International Bioscope Company to good sized audience at the opera house Wednesday and Thursday nights.

They are given without the "flicker" so common to other machines and are clear and distinct and all that is needed is the dialogue to make one think it is real life. The assortment of pictures presented is large and varied, and will please all classes of people, old, young and middle aged. Among the best presented Wednesday night and they were all above the average—was "Little Red Riding Hood," "A Trip to the Moon," "Rip Van Winkle," "Life of an American Fireman" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Charles Haywood in character songs made a good impression and received several hearty encores.

Thursday night the entertainment was repeated with some changes in the program including "Gulliver's Travels," "Robinson Cruso, "Mother Goose" and the Durbar at Delhi, India.

Relating to Rural Delivery.

By a recent ruling of the postoffice department each rural mail carrier in the United States will be required to take a careful census of his route and copy the names in a book provided for the purpose. Slips are prepared for the carriers and these will be left with the families to be filled out, each slip to contain the names of all parties receiving mail at the house, even to the servants. In this manner the name of every person along the routes will be before the postmaster and he will have no trouble forwarding the mail. Married ladies will be designated by their own names instead of those of their husband

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

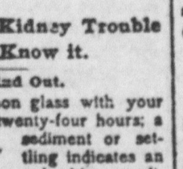
How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble: too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.



Home of Swamp-Root.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address Binghamton, N. Y., one very bottle.

State College Appointment.

Mr. Vincent Pearl Davis of Penn Township Clearfield County, Pa., son of Elisha M. Davis, has been appointed by Senator A. E. Patton to the scholarship provided for at State College. The appointment of Mr. Davis, we believe, will meet with general approval as he is a young man of excellent character and standing and we predict will be a credit to Senator Patton, as his appointee, as well as to the district which he represents.

His Father, Mr. Elisha Davis, has been one of the most prominent agricultural exponents and representatives of this part of the State, and this recognition on Senator Pattons part is carrying out the idea for which this College was established.

There has been no regular rotation in the appointments from the various counties and the selection of Mr. Davis from Clearfield county is a very proper one. The scholarship has been held for the past twenty-two years as follows: From 1881 to 1885, 1887 to 1891, and 1891 to 1895 by appointees of Centre county. From 1895 to 1899 by appointees from Clearfield county and from 1899 to 1903 by an appointee from Clinton county.

"The Johnstown Flood."

All theatre goers, will undoubtedly be delighted to be enable to witness the latest and greatest melo-dramatic success, "The Johnstown Flood," which is Manager Garman's offering to his many patrons, for one performance at Garman's opera house on Saturday evening September 26. Mr. Charles Townsend has made a happy blending of comedy, pathos, love, heroism, and with the quaintness of the characterization of absorbing interest. The company is an excellent one, and the entire scenic and electrical equipment is carried. The play is in four acts, and ten marvelous scenes, all especially built and painted for this production. The great flood scene in Act III is said to be a marvel of the stage mechanic's art. The cast includes only well-known players, so a first-class production is assured.

The College Opening.

In speaking of the opening of Pennsylvania State College the Times of that place says.

College opened Thursday morning with chapel exercises, which were held in the new auditorium. Dr. Atherton here made an address, as did also General Beaver, our faithful trustee. The new Freshman class is large. Up to Thursday noon 244 men had entered the class, distributed as follows: electrical engineering, 89; civil engineering, 62; mechanical engineering, 44; mines and mining, 15; chemistry, 16; industrial chemistry, 4; general science, 5; latin science, 1; biology, 3; agricultural, 4; short mining, 1. There are also some new students who will take advanced work.

Quarters are scarce in town. The college has tried to supply the deficiency by erecting temporary quarters which are known by the name of "barracks."

$10,000,000 Spent at St. Louis.

The committee appointed by Secretary Shaw to audit the vouchers for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis announced the completion of its work Tuesday and the government appropriation of $5,000,000 for the big fair is now available. A condition was that the appropriation should not become available until the exposition company should have expended at least $10,000,000 of its own money. Its vouchers aggregated $10,037,949.

A Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Gordon, of North Spring street, wish through the columns of this paper to extend their thanks to the many friends for their kindness extended to them at the time of the death and burial of their little son, Chas. D. Gordon.

THE GRANGE

Conducted by J. W. DARROW, Press Correspondent New York State Grange

W. N. GILES.

Secretary of New York State Grange.

The accomplished secretary of the New York state grange, W. N. Giles, is a resident of Skaneateles, N. Y. He has been connected with the order since 1877, when he joined Owasco grange, No. 271. He served as secretary of that grange for four years and master two years. In 1892 he transferred his membership to Skaneateles grange, and was its master for two years. He was a regular attendant upon the state grange meetings even before his election as secretary of that body in 1900. The duties of that office he has ever since filled in a most conscientious, painstaking and acceptable manner. As a public speaker he is in great demand at grange picnics and field meet-

W. N. GILES.

QUESTIONS ON RITUAL.

Certain Requirements For Properly Conferring the Degrees.

We have submitted the following questions to Hon. George B. Horton, master of the Michigan state grange, who is an authority on the subjects, and the answers will doubtless be of general interest to members of the Order:

Q.—Is there any explanatory work or lectures in connection with the conferring of the unwritten work of the Order, and do you use and advise the same if there be any? A.—I know of no authorized lectures outside the ritual, which is very complete in itself. Extras are more liable to take from than to add to the impressiveness and strength of the work.

Q.—Can the fifth degree be conferred by obligation simply, and if so do you advise it? A.—The fifth degree cannot legally be conferred other than in full form. Grange law is plainly in opposition to any abridgement of degree forms.

Q.—Do you confer and do you use in your work in Michigan the field work in the first degree? A.—The simple degree forms in the ritual are essential when a gentleman or lady is initiated singly. The field work is instructive and is essential to the completeness of the "laborer's" degree. Every grange should be equipped with well designed field work. From an object lesson point of view it is quite essential.

Young People and the Grange.

The grange recognizes the value of social life to the farmer's family, and we ought to make our sessions so attractive that the children of our rural homes will want to be with us. Many a boy and girl have left the farm and gone down to disgrace and ruin on account of the lack of elevating amusements. We look to the boys and girls of our rural districts to carry on the grand and glorious work of our Order when we are gone, and it behooves us as true Patrons to use every legitimate means within our power to interest the young in our work. Are we doing it? In many places juvenile granges are organized for the children. This may not be practicable in every county, but each subordinate grange might have at least one day in the year on which the children should be welcomed and entertained. This would create in them an interest in grange work which would bear fruit in future years. Only get the children interested with us and there would be a different view taken of farm life. Sons and daughters would be inspired with more love for the farm, the careworn wife would enter upon her domestic duties with a lighter heart and the home ties would become stronger. To accomplish this would truly be an incentive to the grange for further achievements.—C. C. Wells.

Co-operation Among Patrons.

It seems strange, says the Watertown Times, that more Patrons do not take advantage of their organization to purchase feed and other supplies on a cash basis and thus save a large margin from prices paid to retailers under the credit system. Reputable dealers are glad to make large discounts where car load lots are taken and cash paid. To illustrate, some farmers not far from Watertown formed an association to buy together feed in car load lots. Two of the enterprising milling concerns in the city sent agents to the first meeting these farmers held and offered to furnish them with the best grades of feeding stuff at wholesale prices for cash, which in some cases amounted to $3, $4 and even $5 a ton saving from the retail price. Every grange can do the same thing if it will.

Winners In a Desk Contest.

Worthy Master Horton of Michigan announced that the state grange would give to every subordinate grange in the state which received twenty or more new members during the quarter ending June 30, 1903, a well finished business desk for the use of grange officers. Seventy granges are reported by State Secretary Jennie Buell as successful in this contest. The total addition to membership in these granges is 1,691, an average of twenty-four.

John M. Ward to be Married.

The New York World of last Thursday published the following notice of the approaching marriage of John Montgomery Ward, so well known in this place.

John M. Ward, at one time the idol of the baseball world and now a champion golf player, is about to marry again, his partner this time being Miss Kate Wass, of that city. Mr. Ward admitted his engagement to marry but declined to discuss the subject.

Mr. Ward's first matrimonial venture was not a success. On Aug. 31st, 1887, he married Helen Dauvray, the actress, but in 1890 articles of separation were drawn up. In 1893 an absolute divorce was granted to Mrs. Ward by Judge McAdam, of the Superior court.

Mr. Ward was probably the most popular baseball player New York ever had. His first engagement with a National league club was with the Providence to win the pennant in 1879.

He first joined the New York club in 1882, at which time he attended lectures at Columbia college. Later he became the example of his own brilliant play he succeeded in producing a champion team. The Temple cup was one by the club captained by him.

He then retired from the baseball field and studied law. He qualified, and since then has practiced his profession. He did not desert athletics entirely, however, but took up the game of golf, at which he quickly became proficient. He has since won numerous trophies at golf, and has the distinction of having beaten Walter J. Travis. This season he is captain of the Fox Hills golf club.

Birds are Protected by Law.

All persons should know the law. It is the particular duty of parents and teachers to teach it to young people, and all should aid in its enforcement, especially in creating a strong public sentiment in favor of it.

All should know that all birds are protected by law at all times, excepting the game birds, which may be killed only during the legal open season, and certain species of questionable value, as the English Sparrow, the Kingfisher, Green Heron, Night Heron, Great Horned Owl, Cooper's Hawk, and Sharp-shinned Hawk.

However, by special provision of the law, wherever and whenever a bird or other creature is known to destroy property, it may be destroyed for the purpose of protecting the property.

It is against the law to trap or keep in captivity any native bird, to rob nests, to stone or shoot at the birds, and to use (in city and borough) air guns and other instruments projecting leaden missiles.

—The democrats of Maryland continue to profess great apprehension concerning the possibility of negro domination. They are in almost as difficult a position as the man who was forced to kill a sheep because it would persist in biting him.

A WATCHWORD OF WOMEN.

Modesty is woman's watchword. Whatever threatens her delicate sense of modesty, frightens her. For this reason many a woman permits disease of the delicate womanly organs to become aggravated because she cannot bring herself to submit to the ordeal of unpleasant questionings, offensive examinations, and obnoxious local treatments which some physicians find nece sary. Doubtless thousands of the women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, have been led to do so by the escape thus offered from a treatment repungent to modesty. Any sick woman may write to Dr. Pierce, Buffa'o, N. Y., in perfect confidence; all letters being treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential, and all answers being sent in plain enve'opes with no advertising or other printing upon them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has beed long hailed as "a God-send to women." It makes weak women strong and sick women well. "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, or other narcotic.

SEVERE FIGHTING.

Took Place Between 2,000 Turks and Eighty Insurgents at Ulavitza.

TURKS LOST 100 KILLED

Reports of the Burning of Kastoria and the Massacreing of Its Inhabitants Continue to be Received.

MANY SKIRMISHES ARE TOLD OF

SOFIA, September 19.—A Turkish war balloon is reported to have been seen hovering for the last three days close to the Bulgarian frontier, in the vicinity of Haskovo.

A severe fight has occurred at Ulavitza, in the mountains of Kratovo, between 2,000 Turks and eighty insurgents. It continued for eight hours. The insurgents used bombs with deadly effect. About 100 Turks are reported to have been killed and many were wounded. The insurgents had two men wounded.

A fight is also reported to have taken place at Rupel Paso near Seres. Insurgent bands recently surrounded and annihilated a whole company of Turks. The bands then fled to the mountains. Three battalions of Turkish troops have been sent from Salonica to pursue them. A small body of peasant refugees near Presby, who were starving in the mountains started to seek for food. At Nakaletz they were met by Turkish soldiers, who killed them all and horribly multilated two women.

The Bulgarian capital Friday morning was in a state of suppressed excitement, which shows itself on the faces of all. The reports received that the entire population of Kastoria, numbering in the neighborhood of 10,000, had been massacred by the Turks, has stirred the population to the core. The Macedonian sympathizers, of whom there are thousands, are today clamoring for vengeance on the porte. Should the massace be confirmed, the chances are that a declaration of hostilities against Turkey will immediately follow. Even should Prince Ferdinand and his advisors continue to hold back it is probable that they would be overwhelmed by popular feeling which is decidedly bellicose.

Further reports from Kastoria say the city is burning and that the massacre of its population was indescribably terrible. The Turks slaughtered indiscriminately Bulgarians and Greeks, men, women and children.

BERLIN, September 19.—The German government holds in view four points in the Balkan situation:

First—Does Russia regard that the time for the break-up of European Turkey has arrived? The German ministers have been unable to penetrate Russia's ultimate intentions and note with displeasure the concerted attacks of the St. Petersburg papers on Germany, which is described as being in the background and taking pleasure in the extirpation of the Slavs in European Turkey.

Second—If Prince Ferdinand is persuaded that his throne is dependent on a war with Turkey, then war is certain. Every effort should be made to tranquilize Prince Ferdinand's mind.

Third—The meetings of the sovereigns, attended by their foreign ministers, are expected to clear up the obscurities of the situation and enable German statesmen to forecast the future. The emperors of Germany and Austria met at Vienna Friday. The czar meets Emperor Francis Joseph September 29, and will then visit the king of Italy. Events are expected to remain quiet until after the 29th unless Bulgaria refuses to wait.

Fourth—The project for an Austrian-Russian joint occupation of Macedonia has been wholly abandoned, and there is not the least likelihood of a renewal of the proposition.

Despite the fact that the Balkan situation has grown worse, Turkish funds rose again in the Bourse Friday.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
